

Important Notice to Potential and Incoming Students of H&R Block's Income Tax Course

About this course:

The H&R Block Income Tax Course is a general education course designed to teach individuals about preparing taxes and the IRS tax code in general. It provides a basic overview of the topics that most taxpayers might encounter.

Intended Participants of this course:

With the exception of the exclusion noted below, this course is intended to be open to the general public. It is targeted for individuals who are interested in learning more about their personal tax situation as well as those who may be interested in working as a Tax Professional for H&R Block. While participation in this course is not a guarantee of employment, some students may be considered for employment with H&R Block.

Exclusions from this course:

This course is not intended for, nor open to, any persons who are either currently employed by or seeking employment with any professional tax preparation company or organization other than H&R Block. During the course, should H&R Block learn of any student's employment or intended employment with a competing professional tax preparation company or service, H&R Block reserves the right to immediately cancel the student's enrollment. In the event of such cancellation, the student will not be entitled to a refund of tuition or book fees.

H&R Block does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, gender, national origin, disability, veteran status, age, or on any other basis prohibited by law.

By signing below, you acknowledge that you understand the above and accept these terms and conditions.
