

How would you like to:

- Work in exotic lands or your hometown?
- Have your office on a cruise ship, in a hospital, at a university, in a military base, or even at the Hershey's Chocolate Corporation?
- Use the Internet and online databases daily?
- Be the person doctors, musicians, lawyers, archeologists, executives, and the public come to for help?
- Design websites and databases accessible to everyone?
- Teach and empower people?
- Be in a field in explosive demand?
- Work in a people-oriented environment or work solely on your computer?

Do you want a Masters that you can finish in a year?

Are you getting a degree in a field you'd love to practice but there are no jobs? (You can still use that degree—read on!)

Free Lunch

Thursday, October 4, 2001

Free Lunch

Noon-5 p.m. (sessions repeated)

Richter Library / 3rd Floor Conference Room

Learn more about FSU's and USF's accredited graduate programs in library and information science AND their South Florida distance learning programs.

R.S.V.P. by October 1st by phone (305) 284-3965, fax (305) 284-4027,
or email phawthorne@miami.edu

[Use the form on the reverse]

Teachers, doctors, historians, nurses, lawyers, art and liberal studies majors, and others are turning to librarianship as a second career—let it be your first!

Co-sponsored by UM Libraries & Toppel Career Center.