

WHO WERE CAIN AND ABEL?

Morris Bradley

These two characters in the Bible story did not really exist, but are representational figures used to denote the good and evil that exist in all mankind. Until a soul was implanted in animal an there was no Celestial judgement for his actions towards his fellow men, but from the moment that Adam and Eve were created and their souls became living flesh then all persons became accountable to God Jehovah for their lifestyle. In reality there were no such persons as Adam and Eve either and these two names were collective nouns representing one or thousands just as in the same manner we use the word sheep and the story of Adam and Eve was about the creation of all Souls and was used as male and female genders to signify that all people would experience the emotions of both sexes during their many incarnations. It also represented the fact that now animal man had a Soul his mind was divided into two sections, one part being instinct and emotions and the other part being logic and reasoning. The wily serpent in the Garden of Eden represented the type of experience that would appeal to the emotions thereby affecting the reason, so man fails when making important judgements on an emotional basis rather than by using logic. The section which tells of Cain going unto another land and taking himself a wife represents the fact that from that point in time, all the people of the world would now be affected in this manner through soul development. In the case of Cain we see an example of jealousy and envy which is prevalent among all mankind and in the case of Adam, his weakness was Earthly passions. So here we have a legend that offers some explanation as to Man's behaviour and given unto us in a manner that we can understand.

So if we know the logic and reason of Jehovah we can use this to live by and reason will then prevail over passions at all times and we shall then inherit our just rewards an immortal soul.
