

HOMOSEXUALITY -

Are there more than two sexes?

Morris A. Bradley 1985.

Over a number of years in my association with the amateur theatre and music circles, I have made a great number of acquaintances who are homosexual. Many of them have been very good friends of mine and I have worked with them very closely. I must take this point in time to say that never ever during these 30 years or more have any of these people made advances or overtures to me. So I must say that I cannot see homosexuals in any way perverting other people who are not already similarly inclined. This is something of which I am quite sure. If you become involved in a homosexual relationship, you must have tendency towards that way. Homosexuality has always puzzled me because as a Bible scholar I read that this is an abomination in the sight of God and yet this condition has existed for thousands of years. Records have shown that both men and women practised it.

I am convinced that there is a body imbalance. God only meant there to be two sexes - men and women. There should be no third sex. In my talking and working with homosexuals, I have found that within each sector there are two groups. In the men you find the very dominant male and the very subordinate male, so you seem to get a couple consisting of a very strong dominant male and a weak effeminate male and they seem to partner off together. Amongst the women a very similar thing happens. You find the strong manly woman who has manly characteristics and quite a strong muscly figure, and then there is the very delicate woman who is mostly very effeminate. In the two sections we find the four different types of people within the realms of homosexuality. It is my belief that transsexuals and transvestites do not belong in the realm of homosexuals proper and have another category.

In my meditative process when I try to contact my spirit guides and mentors, I have raised this question. I have read many theories concerning karmic commitment and so on, but as an astrologer I have found that when I do natal charts of people who have a sexual imbalance or aberration, it is quite commonly shown on the chart by certain planets and their alignment to each other, particularly if Mars is in a bad aspect to Venus and if both of them are in bad aspect to Neptune. Looking at the horoscopes of many well known homosexuals like Tchaikowsky, Chopin and many other world famous people who have admitted to being homosexual, we can examine their charts and find that these planetary alignments correlate to their homosexual attitudes. This may seem strange but in my experience as an astrologer I have found that this happens often.

However, I feel that despite astrological factors and spiritual philosophy regarding karmic commitment that these people are born this way, I have always felt that there was some particular electrical imbalance in the person and that in some way this could be reversed and altered. In my practice as a radionic and colour therapist, I have made certain discoveries during my research on practising homosexuals whom I have had for clients. I have been able to make a study of these people and their attitude, not by using normal orthodox methods, but by using a system of dowsing. This is a very important part of the radionic diagnosis. I found that on checking the electrical polarity, the body polarity, of what I term normally sexually balanced people, that the men always have what is termed an AC current and the women have pulsating DC current. Of the many people tested, the only time I have found an imbalance is when the person is homosexual. Then we find that a man pulsates with a woman's pulsating DC current and the woman, who is a lesbian, pulsates with a man's AC current.

My conclusions are that there must be some electrical imbalance within the body that may alter the feelings or emotions of the said person. Prior to this while in meditation I had been told by my spirit mentor, and I wrote about this 5 years ago (1980), that the polarity of a homosexual could be changed by hormone treatment and electronic treatment using the small hand generator. For women who were incorrectly balanced we could give pulsating DC current daily from a hand generator. Similarly for the men we could give AC current each day. Now I was not quite sure how much treatment we would need to give and for how long to be involved, but I was told that in the very early stages, before the age of seven, it was possible to use this treatment and bring people back to their correct sexual balance. Although I wrote an article about it and kept it in mind, I never went any further with it.

Since that period I have received more information about the subject from other spirit guides, perhaps because I have been so worried about the Homosexual Law Reform Bill, which is being introduced into parliament this year, 1985, and the problems that it is causing. There is much ignorance about the whole subject. Some experts consider it to be a mental imbalance while others consider it a desire to be perverted and everybody is saying that there is no cure. In my meditative responses daily I would say, 'I wish there was something I could do to help these people.' Eventually I received the response that it is possible to restore these people to their normal sexual polarity through the use of radionic treatment. However, my radiaesthetic handbook, which covers most illnesses and diseases, had in it no radionic numbers that I could use for such treatment. One day, just as I had received other information through the spirit realm on numbers that could be used for sicknesses, I asked if there was a radiation number that be used for treating homosexuals. The answer was 'Yes', and I was given two numbers. The numbers were to be set on a radionic machine called the Copen Radionic Broadcaster. This is a small black box with 9 dials on it. The numbers given were specifically for use with this type of equipment so that a sample of blood or hair from the person suffering sexual imbalance could be placed on this machine and then treatment could begin. It is believed that continual treatment like this will eventually restore the person to normal sexual balance. At present I am treating five homosexuals, two men and three women, and we will wait over the next few months to see what happens with this type of treatment. It must be pointed out that in some cases we will be using, in conjunction with this treatment, an E.L.F. generator, which is an extremely low frequency unit.

Recently I have been treating a man for a low sex drive. His wife had contacted me requiring some help. She knew that she was fertile and that her husband was fertile but very low in fertility and that he had a low sex drive. She hoped that there was some way in which we could stimulate him. We had given him some treatment and some herbs and there was a slight increase in his libido. However, this was not sufficient. In the light of the new information that I had received, I thought that I would test his sexuality and found to my amazement that this man was homosexually aligned. This was very difficult, as the couple had been married for 8 or 9 years. They are both lovely people. He could not understand why he could not properly fulfil his sexual task. She felt that he is really a shy person and that this was the reason as she is rather shy herself and so they just plodded on. I doubt at this time that I would tell him that he is homosexual, but we are giving him treatment for this condition and we will wait over the next few months of 1985 to see if his normal sexual drive returns and he can get on with his manly job.

For a second instance, another person I have known, a lady in her fifties, has told me that she has never had any sexual desire. She told me that she had married because she did not feel that she wanted to be 'left on the shelf'. From 35 years of sexual activity she has never enjoyed any of it, but she has four children. At long last she has decided to no longer sleep with her husband. On testing her sexuality, I found that she has also been homosexual but has not known it. These are some of the things that can happen under the homosexual problem. My testing, plus information from the 'other side', shows that eight out of every hundred people are naturally born this way, and we hope to be able to explain this situation further in this article.

Another thing that has cropped up during my dowsing work that puzzled me was the incorrect data I often receive when seeking the gender of a foetus. When checking the patterns of an expectant mother, many would ask me, 'What am I going to have - a boy or a girl?' Seventy five per cent of the time when I dowsed I was correct but then twenty five percent of the time I was wrong. I could not understand this. I know I am not infallible, but when doing a diagnosis for a patient I would get everything right but in this area I would make a mistake. It has only just been revealed to me recently that the problem was this, that when I made a mistake, the sexuality of the child to be born was wrong. I checked back over several of these children whom I knew and whom I had treated over the years. I still had their blood spots on file. When I had said that a boy was to be born was a girl, I checked them and found that they were homosexuals. In my dowsing I would receive the male current, but a girl would be born and would be a lesbian. By checking back this has cleared up a problem which has worried me about a wrongful diagnosis in respect to the birth. My guides have revealed to me that this changeover takes place during the third to fourth month and is an electro-chemical problem. The electro-chemical imbalance in the human foetus is brought about on some occasions by the mother if she suffers from extreme stress or some health problem. This affects the noradrenaline output within the child or within the woman and this affects the hormone production in the child. It alters the electro chemical basis within the child who is born a homosexual.

If we consider the basic cell structure of the human body we find that each cell is like a little transmitter and a receiver and within that cell we have a positive chemical, potassium, and on the outside of this cell we have a negative chemical called sodium. These are both in the metal categories (one is positive, the other negative) and as the sodium bathes the outside of the cell and with potassium on the inside of the cell, there is a natural electronic flow from the centre to the outside, which is electromagnetic electricity. This, with trillions of cells together in the human body, would give off electrical energy.

It appears that when a male and female are normally balanced they have this magnetic or electro-magnetic attraction towards one another. Often we have heard the expression, 'When we met the chemicals started to flow.' No one knows how true this is. When we find a male with this electricity chemically unbalanced with this energy flow, they are attracted to one of their own sex.

Our current programme is to use these two numbers which have been given to us by inspiration and to transmit the treatment daily to these sexually unbalanced people via a Radionic Broadcast Therapy Unit in the hope and the belief that this is going to restore them to sexual normality. This will be a remarkable break-through in this field if this research programme works, which I am sure it will, then this will certainly do away with the age old question of whether there are more than two sexes or not. It will certainly do away with having to legalize sodomy and all the other things we do not want to legalize just for the sake of justice and equality amongst these people who are born electrically and chemically unbalanced.

It appears that the treatment will work at any age, which is different from the early advice I was given five years ago that treatment had to start before puberty. I am looking forward to great results in the near future with this new research project. It seems that it is best if these people receive about ten hours of treatment a day. It is a bit early to make a prognosis as to how long the changeover will take, but we will certainly watch carefully and make notes on it for the future.

Added to this I have also received further information from my guides that it is possible, if one can work with a consenting doctor who is prepared to go along with this project, that the adding of hormones or extra hormone therapy treatment to the sexually imbalanced individual would also help. For instance, if we had a woman lesbian who was predominantly masculine, combined with the radionic treatment we would also administer a female hormone which would help to restore normality, particularly in a case where one may have a very light muscular lesbian with no breasts. It would be possible with the added hormone treatment to alter the shape of the body, bring curves back to the body and allow breasts to grow. In the case of a man, as well as the radionic treatment we would administer a male hormone, like testosterone, and this would harden the body and take away the womanly flabbiness in the case of the very effeminate man. What we need to do, if this work can pass, is to try to find someone in the medical profession who would be interested in taking part in this experiment and this would hasten the changeover from sexual imbalance to sexual normality.

I am quite sure that God made man and woman perfect and that it is us who have actually destroyed this principle over the years by our living, by our thoughts, by our behaviour patterns and before we know more about foetal development and how women should be treated during this stage, in the long term we will perhaps be able to have a programme of a preventative nature that will stop sexual imbalance without it occurring any more. Another danger about which I have been warned can be the use of tranquilizers or antibiotics during pregnancy. Both of these can have an adverse affect on the foetus. There is also the danger from mothers who drink alcohol during pregnancy and from smoking heavily. There is a particular danger from those who smoke any type of drugs, such as marijuana, as this can cause problems not only with the foetus but it can also cause genetic defects in the third and fourth generation. It will become more obvious in the grandchildren rather than the children

During pregnancy it is advisable to avoid wearing artificial fibres because these things have their own electrostatic charge. There is a very high increase in electrical energy during pregnancy, possibly owing to the foetus. A disturbance in the mother's electrical field will not affect the foetus directly but indirectly through the mother's bodily function or her nerve and electrical functions, which in turn can bring about an irritation to the foetus, perhaps bringing nerve problems or conditions to the child later in life. Food allergies need also to be taken into consideration in respect to the development of the foetus during the first four to six months. If these foods are eaten, toxicity can build up in the mother and this can affect the growth of the foetus.

It seems that most women can use an E.L.F. generator during their pregnancy. It will help to keep them calm if they used the recommended seven to eight cycles per second setting but they would need to be tested for suitability first. As it has been commented on already, it really means that a happy, healthy and contented mother should produce a happy, healthy and contented child. Unfortunately today with the stresses and strains of civilization that young mothers in particular have during their pregnancies, the children are born with all sorts of traumas and health problems right from the start. The sooner we realize that women are the actual cradle of civilization and that once they become pregnant they must be looked after and kept happy. In doing so there is no reason why they should not have a normal, healthy child.

At this stage in my notes I would like to clarify one or two things that the reader may be misunderstanding. Not every woman who has a thyroid gland imbalance and becomes pregnant is going to have problems with the foetus. Not everyone who drinks, smokes, uses marijuana or takes penicillin will have something wrong with their child. It is just that in a number of cases where there are certain weaknesses or the conditions are right, be it the time of the month or the transition of the foetus from one stage to another, and when all these factors are brought together they can at times produce these different types of sexuality. It is not a hard and fast rule that happens to everybody but it seems to be a basic cause on many occasions.

While on the subject of homosexuality, I wish to speak about the forces that are generated which I believe help to cause some diseases. When a male and female perform sexual intercourse, each person during the act generates a tremendous amount of body electricity. Some of this energy is of a fourth dimensional type. If the act is completed successfully and properly, then the energy of these two people is polarized and dissipated. If the act is committed by only one person and not completed totally by the other, then one person develops sexual energy and the other does not. We have this unpolarized energy floating about. I know that in some cases this energy can be employed by the etheric beings of another dimension to manufacture a body and this body can cling to our body. This can be seen psychically. Sometimes they take the form of insectoids, a type of queer looking giant insect but nothing in any species we know. It may be a snake with legs or a fly with a long trunk.

These things attach themselves to the human aura. The person becomes dissipated and tired.

We have seen hundreds of them over the years in our group's work and have learned to cleanse them from the aura with blessed water. The moment that this is gone from the aura the person feels better. It is so remarkable that when two people of the same sex get together and generate sexual energy that this can affect the body structures and bring about diseases similar to AIDS. This unpolarized energy can affect the function of the cell structure within the body, affect the immune system and leave the body open to auto-intoxication which is a type of self-poisoning or where the immune system attacks the body structure. It has even been said that solo acts such as masturbation also build up strong sexual energy and this energy is unpolarized. This energy can be used for all sorts of things. Sometimes spiritual manifestations come in through this - poltergeists, sometimes these insectoid things that feed on the unpolarized energy. Perhaps there is a reason why in the old sacred scriptures we are told that these sex acts should not take place, because god knew that if the act was performed improperly it could develop an etheric energy or a force that could be utilized for wrongful purposes.

Only time will tell when we invent enough equipment to measure these things. I have received this information from spirit guides and have also heard it from other psychics. With training you can see the unpolarized energy that surround people and can tell if they are unfulfilled in their lives where sex is concerned. Sex is a very powerful thing and has been used down through the ages in all sorts of sorcery and witchcraft. The ancients, the Shamans, knew that all sorts of sex acts, particularly obscene ones, fired people up and excited the emotions and created tremendous sexual energy which could be used for magical purposes and this is why it is banned in the eyes of God. People who have been associated with this in mystical religions or sexual ritual magic have been known throughout the ages as devil worshippers, and I think that this is quite so in these cases.

The power of thought is a great thing because it releases a great energy flow. The more that people can concentrate in their minds and learn to visually project these things through their minds, the stronger the force will be. This seems to relate to all people to a greater or lesser degree because the Bible, for instance, says that where lust is concerned that he who thinks the act in his mind has already committed the act in his heart. We take here an example a young chap of 20 and he is looking upon a girl that he knows and he has this tremendous desire to have a sexual relationship with her but does not mention anything to her, he just sits and thinks about it. The more he thinks about it, the more sexual energy he generates. The desire to have this association projects these thoughts through the atmosphere and so he is visualizing himself having sex with this girl and actually committing mental rape. So the Bible is very wise in these instances where it gives us taboos but cannot explain the scientific principle.

We must understand that if we have a bad environment and a bad community that we are more responsible for it than anyone else because our negative thinking and our negative thoughts projected out all the time create negativity.

The Bible says that our thoughts must be love and we must send out love vibrations because these things will do good. We can see this power, this fourth dimensional energy that the body can transmit. This can probably enter plants, animals and trees. This is why negative thinking is such a destructive force. It is only in the future when we understand the human body and mind more and the laws of the fourth dimension that we will look back and see how man has created this terrible problem with all his negative and wrongful thinking. When we stop and think for a minute, the ancient wise ones really knew the answers Perhaps they could not explain them, they just said, ' This you must not do and you will have to accept this.' In the light of understanding as we go through life, we learn more about this process.

In Proverbs it is stated that 'Unto the righteous truth becomes an ever increasing light.' This means that the better we try to live our lives, the more will be revealed to us. This, I think, is the ministering angels in the background or the spirit people who try to help us from other dimensions, trying to impress love and tolerance and upon us so that if it becomes instilled in us we will be able to make a better community and with a better community we will have better health.

TRANVESTITES, TRANSEXUALS

In asking questions during my meditation, after being told that the transsexuals and transvestites are not homosexuals, I received the advice that the transsexuals problems start in the foetal stage owing to an imbalance of the mother's electrical polarity. This means that she sometimes is AC when she should be DC pulsating current and then she changes back to the normal current. This fluctuation from one current to another produces an electrical imbalance in the foetus so that it later grows to be a trans-sexual. This is all owing to electrical polarity, which can be tested during the foetal stages when the mother is pregnant. The foetus can accept treatment for this using Radionic Broadcast Therapy.

The problem for a person to become a transvestite starts also in the foetal stage where the mother may have been subject to drugs or medicine that has a narcotic in it, such as cocaine, opium, morphine or even smoking marijuana. This type of drug taken during the third to fourth month of the foetal stage can cause an imbalance in the pineal gland, which in conjunction with the pituitary gland alters the growth function in the human being and the child can be born as a transvestite. Treatment for both these conditions is best either in the foetal stage, if detected, or in early childhood before the age of seven.

HERMAPHRODITE

The next case is that of the hermaphrodite. It appears, from my mentors, that there is no treatment for this in the foetal stage, only operations in early childhood, but most important here is the detection in the first three months of pregnancy. It seems, according to the information that I have received spiritually, that hermaphrodites are born because of a rare imbalance in the mother's thyroid gland. This thyroid gland affects a particular type of hormone stimulus into the foetus where it sometimes grows two sets of genital organs, male and female. In most cases of early tests during pregnancy it is essential to test the thyroid gland as radionic treatment could help rectify the thyroid problem which could in turn prevent the hermaphrodite species from forming within the womb.

CHILD MOLESTERS.

The next interesting piece of information that came through was for child molesters, both male and female. It appears that here we have a definite mental sexual imbalance. With men it appears that the testosterone hormone outflow is actually responsible for the problem. In women it seems that there is an imbalance in the progesterone. This causes the mental hormone imbalance, which causes them to desire sexual physical relationships with children. It seems that in these later cases that radionic treatment four hours a day for three months will nullify or stultify these desires and the person should return to some form of normality.

Another snippet of information which I received and quite puzzled me, but I must accept it for what it is and record it relates to a woman becoming pregnant when her Thymus gland is active or more active than it should be, and this increases the possibility of multiple births. As I understand it from the age of one to thirteen this gland slows down in functioning until puberty is reached and then it virtually stops functioning altogether as the person's own hormones flow into the body. However I have found many cases which I have tested where the Thymus gland is active right up until later years. It will be very interesting next time I have the opportunity of testing a woman who may be having twins to see if the Thymus is still very active. This may apply to the male as well. I am not quite sure at this stage.

To recap once more on male and female polarity as discussed earlier, this goes into the animal, plant and bird worlds. Having tested plants I have found that many are male and female as for animals, but some plants are dually sexed, having male and female in them. Animals seem to follow the same course with all male animals being A.C. and female animals being D.C. pulsating. For birds it is the same. It seems that this current goes right through nature. Although I have not actually got around to making any experiments about sexual imbalance in animals and plants, I doubt that there is. The animal and plant world are fairly well controlled by their own devas and their own spirit guides. It is just man who seems to get out and muck the whole system up.
