

CE Supplement

Issue 1 of 2002

Introduction Message

Welcome to a new work year, a new beginning. Everyday is a new beginning, it is only how you make use of each day that makes it so special.

Over here at CE club, and more specifically this CE supplement. We hope that it would provide you with a portal into the on-goings of the CE department. I understand that hardly anybody reads the supplement anyway, so why waste money and paper printing it? Well, to be able to come up with a newsletter is no easy feat. It involves the concerted efforts of many people, including the writers, the editors, the designers as well as any other help rendered in any way to make it possible.

It is the determination of these many people who make it possible to produce a publication. It also signals our progress as we establish a name for ourselves in the NUS population. It is indeed something to be proud of that a mere department such as ourselves are able to produce a newsletter.

On our part, we will do our best to produce the best and hopefully the most interesting newsletter for you to read. On your part, we do hope that you will enjoy this supplement and also future supplements and be proud of the fact that it is a publication by students for students. Besides, it is free.

Enjoy!

Up n coming...

January

Soccer league

February

Friendship-day Bazaar

Also, expect lots more useful seminars as well as site visits coming your way for the new year.

Contents	Pg
Introduction message	1
Up n coming	1
CE day	2
One Rainy Day	3
Thoughts	4