

To Chug Entertainment (organisers of the American Chopper event),

The disorganisation for American Chopper event was shocking there was no cover from the elements and there were limited food stalls.

We arrived before the gates opened at twelve because that's when Ticketek had as the gates opening at 12:00 and what was described on their website I thought the show would start in the afternoon we ended up waiting till 7:00pm at night to see the guys which ended up being very boring and uncomfortable when a storm started.

This was a gift to my partner for his birthday and it was the worst event I have ever been to, I waited for over an hour for merchandise and by the time we got there most of the items had already been sold and the sizes were limited.

The only reason we bought two shirts which mind you costed $40 dollars each was because of the length of time we were in the lines (over an hour there was only one stall), then at closer inspection of the t-shirts the quality was horrible the print on them was already coming off.

Drinks & food lines were so bad but it was probably due to how many stalls there were available, how can three stalls accommodate for over 10,000 people that were at the event.

The amount of people I spoke to on the day who were not only disappointed but felt ripped off, how would you feel if you paid to come to this event and all you got out of it was a sunburn.

I want a refund and I am not the only one to say this I am never watching the American Chopper again.

Thanks for the worst day of my life and for ruining my partner's birthday.
