

Captain May – July 15, 2003 (1500 hours) – e-mail: to David Corn, The Nation magazine

Dear Mr. Corn:

As you know, Bush skipped town and went to Africa. I say it's because of the heat in Washington D.C. – and I don't mean the weather. When everything gets too hot folks go for a vacation. My best editorial friends have taken vacation lately. I guess it's too hot for them nowadays, too. I hope you won't be leaving any time soon, because I believe I have the best story since Watergate, and it would delight me if you were to scoop the embedded media.

Captain May