Sleepwalking with my eyes wide open

Well, I had a good time at the Carp Sportsmen's Show. Ian Midgley was good company. He ably talked to people who stopped and he handed out OFC business cards. I appreciated the members who stopped by and said "Hello". Pete Melvin and Jim Lumsden even bought a book.

However, that only lasted until about 1 PM. Ian had to go - no replacement. So --- the OFC stuff was taken away by Ian. I couldn't handle the Friends of the Rideau stuff, answer questions on my new book and promote the OFC.

I asked for volunteers - only two people replied – Ian and Larry Swan. Larry had his own booth but sent an "Atta boy!"

A photo album that stops at 2003 presents a fair "picture" of the Club that I used to belong to - interesting – active.

Where did it go?

Sleepwalking – I must have been sleepwalking the past few years. When I woke up the other day, the Club was gone.
