

Identity Theft

<http://www.dailytech.com/article.aspx?newsid=1413>

I chose this article because I once had a Fidelity retirement account. My wife, however, currently has a Fidelity retirement account. I was relieved to see that it only effected HP employees. This has embarrassment written all over it. They are not disclosing where the laptop was stolen, which just begs for speculation. Fidelity is attempting to provide assistance and take care of their customers. It is the least they can do.