

The

Platonic society

Presents...

Philosophy Conversations @UBar

Exciting philosophical topics/debates each week (justice, truth, war, god, pain, knowledge, existence, consciousness, death...)

Thursday, 5pm onwards
Every week during term

Check out the Platonic Society website for event details each week:
<http://au.geocities.com/platonicsociety/>

More of a casual gathering than a study group, each week has a specific theme.
No formal study of philosophy required.
No background reading necessary (although encouraged).
It's enough to have an interest in philosophy and a liking for stimulating conversation.

Philosophy is the discipline of seeking wisdom (Sophia) through the insights we gain in conversation with friends (Philia).
