Rudy Jao requested Efren Labay to submit a report on the distribution of medicines.
- 8) Feedback on the medical mission were as follows:
 - a) Macrine – “The mission was a great success. We reached a great number of truly needy folks”. She recommended that if we were to have another mission, it should be held during January or February when it’s not too hot. She informed the group that so far, the food situation is satisfactory, but our budget may not be enough. She also requested that the surgical team of Freddy Ng be brought food at the hospital since they were still performing surgeries that day. Aida Mariposque, sister of Rudy Jao, was assigned to bringing the food to the hospital.
 - b) Efren Labay – He thanked everyone for a great and unselfish job, well done. The missionaries expressed their appreciation, thanks, and gratitude to the hospital staff and health officers who joined and volunteered their time to serve in the six towns where the missions were held. Efren Labay willingly accepted the responsibility of distributing the medical supplies still to come from Manila.
