

Dating

Dating is not a new phenomenon in any context, place or religion. Neither it is new to any cast or geographical location of the world. Still some parents are allergic to the word dating. Most of the children go to coeducation school, can we really completely stop it, answer will be no.

Then question comes what can be done; we should have our own rules for the dating what is acceptable with in your family's values and traditions. I am not putting any limits or a moral lecture what should be done or not, but have meaning full and appropriate dialogue in this matter with your kids is the best. Here it is very important that even if you have boys as your children or girl it takes two to do "tango" dance, or any other thing.

In this respect we should also tell our children how to take care of themselves in adverse situations. Hence more important thing is how to take decision then take decision for them. Once you are assured about their taking a good decision, you never, ever had to take a decision for them for rest of their life and you can enjoy the show without being involved or worry. Hence test them few time and then they will earn your trust, it is better they do the doing otherwise you have to carry two lives load on your shoulders.
