

Conrades, brothers! Come and hear me!

We bring news from far north, from beyond the frozen wastes of Valind (Finland). Long has the Darkness lasted, but now we have the light of Kalikos flickering again on the northern horizon!

It's been a long time since the last issue of The Zin Letters, the English magazine of our society, saw the light of Elmalko. During this Darkness warriors gave up their hope: they let their swords rust, and their shields fell to dust. It seemed that Orlanthy sure was dead. Fear not my Brothers, brighten up your shields to shine like Elmalko himself and sharpen your
