

This is a retelling of what happened for each person missing at Cavernius covenant. The storyguide may make this more or less complicated as he wishes. What pieces were found or acted upon in what manner is also up to the storyguide to determine. This is simply what happened.

Dominica and Vilarious were not working from a null hypothesis when they performed their investigations—they assumed Hesperus covenant was causing the disappearances. Clavius merely assumed they were right since he couldn't easily find any evidence to the contrary.

- Zeeman was on guard duty in the gatehouse. When Corbin showed up to relieve him, no one was there. It was assumed for a long while that he simply ran away. Dominica suspects that he was the first victim of the monster.
- Dara was playing outside the kitchen where her mother, Lolly the cook, was working. Lolly heard a howl, and rushed to where Dara was playing. Unfortunately, after a long search, no one has been able to find the child.
- Barnabus, an apprentice and Raisa the maid were known to be sweet on each other. After a series of howls, a broom closet was found disheveled as if there were a fight. People came running within a moments of the howl, but did not find the room immediately as the two were meeting clandestinely. His blood and her torn clothing were found, but to no avail as they carried no Arcane Connections. Dominica did cast Eyes of the Past, but found only a field of darkness.
- After a howl was heard, Lolly's blood was found splattered through the pots and pans and utensils were found everywhere. There were strange "tracks" found in the spilled soups. Happened very quickly since Margareta "was only out of the room for a moment" and she claims to not have heard anything, only "Mr. Knife said that something was happening." Vision of the Marauding Beast (InAn 15) shows the tracks to be only scuff marks from dropped utensils.
- After compiling her initial investigation, Dominica was angry with herself for the copy of her work she had given to Vilarious was in error. She was in the middle of correcting her thesis when she was attacked in her sanctum. Her sanctum was in the older section of the covenant, in a disused section. After missing a meal, the covenfolk found the mess in her sanctum. All that was left was a broach with the symbol of her house with a bit of torn cloak stuck in it.
- In the courtyard, Nikolle had just come in to report a loss of game that she had noticed lately. The grogs saw a cloud of darkness appear and heard screams, right after a loud howl. Some say it was a dog, others a wolf. There was a scuffle in the darkness as Hawk was apparently killed by sword. His body is interred and now no longer available for comment. After the melee, Blood and equipment were found; Emilio, Luigi, and Nikolle were missing and never seen again. Nikolle's crook was left behind, hewn down the middle from a sword blow.

- Marcella was working in the crypts, completing the memorial for Hawk. After several particularly loud howls, her tools were found scattered about, one chisel still stuck in the stone.
- Bechtel, the autocrat, was working on some grog requisition forms right after a heated council session. His scream was heard from his office before the howl. Nothing was ever found of him.
- By this time, the covenfolk went nowhere alone. In one of the back areas near Dominica's lab, Carmine and his entourage were attacked. There was a scuffle and Holtz was taken, leaving a small pool of blood and his sword. Unknown to all Corbin fell down some stairs and was not taken by the monster. His ghost is still searching for Carmine who bolted and is still hiding in the depths of the covenant. All were assumed lost.
- Una and Claudia thought that going about their duties together would save them from the monster. They were closing up the unused areas of the covenant where Holtz's "remains" were found. After lunch they were never seen again. No howl was heard, no blood was found.
- Clavius' custos Pitch was told to guard "over there" and suddenly he was gone. Clavius figured he ran away, but Eduardo swears he heard him scream. No one found any evidence of an attack.

After that, his grogs decided to never go anywhere alone. Lucius needed to get a book from Clavius' "lab" where he got jumped by the monster. Nicolaus who was guarding him was unable to stop the attack and was taken soon after Lucius. Clavius' lab had Nicolaus' blood splattered about and the area showed signs of a fight.
