Dear Mr Saurav Dwivedi,

Thank you for considering International Journal of Theoretical Physics (IJTP) for your interesting paper. We now use an electronic manuscript-managing system that saves paper, facilitates transmission, and speeds up review and publication. Could I ask you to transmit your manuscript to us on-line at

<http://IJTP.EdMgr.com>

In preparing the paper please follow the Author Instructions found on-line at www.physics.gatech.edu/ijtp

Let me know if this creates a problem for you.

I regret to say that an initial review found a basic but rather subtle error in your paper. I am informed that the work is not valid as it stands, but is still impressive for somewhat at your school level, and that perhaps a publishable result can be extracted. If you can submit a draft in LaTeX it would make the editing process easier.

About your future studies: I would suggest that you apply directly to universities that interest you, for admission and for a scholarship simultaneously. Perhaps you ought to include some Indian universities in your list.

Sincerely,

David Ritz Finkelstein (ed.)
