Audubon Chapter of Minneapolis

Vol. 58 No. 4

Representing the National Audubon Society in Greater Minneapolis and Hennepin County

A Note from the President

At the May program meeting, Audubon Chapter of Minneapolis will hold a brief Annual Meeting to elect three Board Members for a three-year term. (The Bylaws stipulate that 3 members are elected for 3 year terms.) This is a very important event for the Chapter's future. Not so much for any shift in the Chapter's policies, but more for the continuity of the Chapter itself. We currently have six vacancies on the Board; three of these vacancies are for terms that end in May and consequently if the current election has a full slate of candidates, the vacancies will fall to three. These three vacancies can be filled through appointments by the Board, so having the critical mass of Board members to conduct the business of the Chapter is at stake.

In addition to the three Board members (bylaws require them to be elected by the general membership), the President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer are elected at the April Board meeting by the Board (required by bylaws) and they assume their offices at the May Board meeting. We expect to have a new President and Vice President. At the time I'm writing this, we do not have candidates for either office. None of the candidates for office need to be on the Board. so anyone is a potential officer. The past President has the option of being on the Board and I expect to serve in that capacity, because the next President probably will not have any experience leading the Chapter. I hope to be there to give appropriate advice.

As the current President, I want to thank Susan Anderson and her Nominating Committee (Jim Egge and Trudi Poquette) for doing the difficult job of recruiting nominees for the Board and Chapter offices. These are unprecedented times with the severe downturn in the economy plus huge demands on our personal time. Finding the time to serve in an all-volunteer organization can be very difficult due to the lack of resources, both financial and technical. It can also be very rewarding because it frees one to be very innovative and unrestricted by a bureaucracy. Susan and her team have done an outstanding job in bring forth their slate of candidates. Of course, none of us could have done it without your help. And if there are still a few vacancies, please help us out—I think you will find it rewarding.

Backyard Gardening – Yes, You Can!

Successful vegetable gardening simplified

Join a national movement promoting backyard gardening—even our First Family is planting a garden on the White House lawn! You can't get more local than a few feet away from your kitchen. Join Bruce Blair of Welch Permaculture Gardens as he explains how you can enjoy fresh vegetables by planting a small 4x6 garden this summer. He has compiled all the information you will need to be successful in our climate.

Bruce will model his layering concept which eliminates the heavy chore of tearing up your grass. Various gardening plans will demonstrate the numerous combinations of vegetables we can grow starting this spring through early fall. Bring your questions for this timely presentation.

Nominating Committee Report

At this time we have a number of highly qualified people who are interested in joining the Board and or one of the committees. For various reasons, no one has been able to make a firm commitment. We hope that soon we will have a slate of exciting new candidates to present to the membership.

Martha Allen has agreed to remain on the Board as Secretary. Ernie Gunderson will remain as Treasurer. We are still in need of a President and Vice President.

Please call Susan Anderson at 612.331.1117 if you are interested in becoming an officer of the Board; a Board member or a member of any of the following committees: Education, Conservation, Publicity or Membership.

Since there is a video camera in the box, a one day's notice will be given to those who want to see this magical moment. Wood ducks hatch and the next day, they jump. AUDUBON PARK AND SPRING WINGDING

Mark Fox

Audubon Park is both a neighborhood in Northeast Minneapolis and a green space nestled at the heart of that neighborhood. The people of Audubon Park cherish natural elements woven through their urban landscape. We are stewards of the environment, working to bring nature home.

Guided by this ideal, the Audubon Park community has adopted a plan to transform our namesake park. The plan preserves the best existing elements, and adds amenities to help people better connect with nature. We aim to create a sanctuary within the city, for birds and for people.

The park's setting, within a traditional neighborhood, offers genuine human-scale opportunities. The planned features and plantings will serve as a guide and inspiration for all visitors. An interpretive trail will explain how people can create intimate personal sanctuaries in their own back yards. Nature has no borders, and the park plan is only the centerpiece of a vision for an entire neighborhood alive with flora and fauna.

The people of Audubon Park do more than dream. We have actively pursued implementation of our vision. Our neighborhood association has applied for, and won, several grants to bring the concept plan to the next level of detail. We are cultivating long-term relationships, as we understand dreams are seldom built overnight.

The Audubon Society has been an essential partner from the start of the planning process. We have sought its advice on features friendly to birds and the people who enjoy watching them. We want our park to be open and welcoming to all of Minneapolis, and beyond.

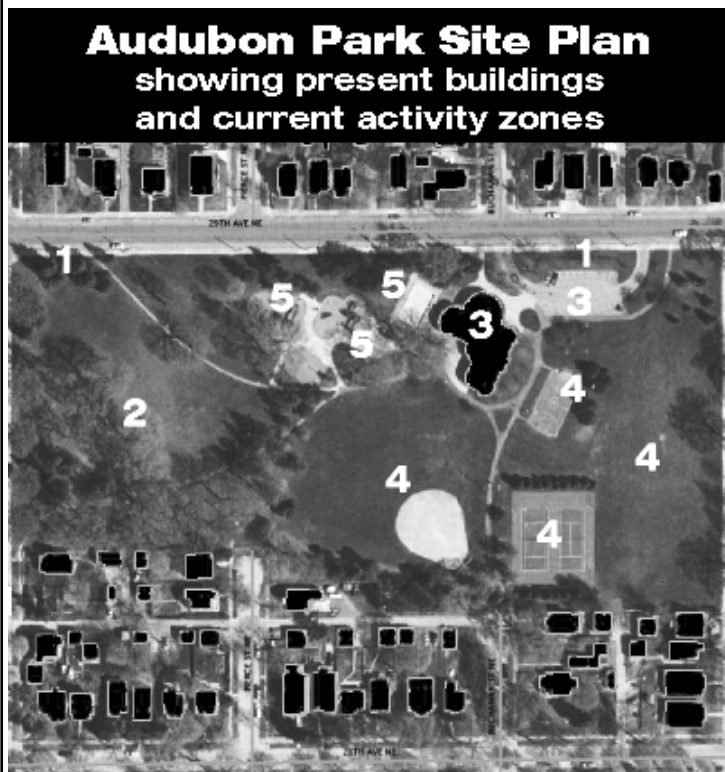

The people of Audubon Park invite the members of the Audubon Society to take a look at what we have, what we share, and what we can do to inspire each other. Read more about our Birder's Paradise online at Audubon-Neighborhood.org/ParkPlan.

You're welcome to stop by for our Spring WingDing community festival on Saturday, April 25, 11 to 2.
