

The Zoo Song

By Carla Piper

We're going to the zoo. You can come along too.
Ev'ry Saturday we go the zoo. It's our favorite thing to do.
With our family, my brother and me
Go visit our friends at the zoo. We'll introduce them to you.

Giraffes and kangaroos, bears and lions too, all live in our zoo.
They will welcome you with a how do you do to you.

Who's that over there? Swingin' through the air
Makin' silly sounds and jumping around? Can you-oo guess who?
The monkey says hi to you.

What do I hear now? Such a scary growl.
It's a big cat with stripes down his back. Can you guess who?
The tiger says hello too.

What do I see lookin' down at me with a long stretched out neck?
He's a giraffe and he's the tallest I've ever met.

What have I found? The biggest animal around.
With great big ears and a great big trunk he can make a trumpet sound?
The elephant says "How do you do?"

Fuzzy bears with their paws in the air catching food.
Seals all honkin'; swimming and flapping their fins in the pool.

How the time does fly. We've got to say good-bye.
The zoo is a great place to be. There's so much to see.
I'm glad that we came to the zoo.
