

“A Random Story”

An instant best-selling classic for the ages by Stephen (for free!)

The lady is staring at her feet. That’s all she’s done for the last 14 years—we think she’s dead. Her name is Angie. The guy second-from-left is Matt. We’ll call him that (that’s not his real name) because he looks sorta like that Matt guy in homeroom. He’s evil (Matt in the story, not Matt in homeroom...well, okay, maybe they both are). The black guy with the wacko hair and Satan’s beard is Bubba. All he does is the hula, like he’s showing everyone else how to do in the picture. No one’s related Anyway, Matt’s working too many hours a week and he thinks his wife is having an affair with a Chinese hobo from the U.S.S.R. Naturally, he’s not feeling too good.

So, he trudges down to the local Wal-Mart (where Angie has been sitting for the last 14 years after the tragic forklift accident I can’t go into detail about here). As he’s buying some C4 for his latest plot for world domination (yes, he’s gone through quite a few; they never work), Bubba hulas past nonchalantly, whistling in surprise at the sight of Matt buying packs of C4.

Thinking fast, Matt realizes that if Bubba tells anyone about the C4, his plot will be ruined. He rips a shotgun out of his jacket (very big pockets) and takes a shot at Bubba as he hulas past. He misses and hits Angie full in the face with a load of buckshot instead. She doesn’t respond (she never responds to these things—that’s why we think she’s dead).

Bubba hulas away faster (you can’t really run and hula at the same time), running out onto a golf course nearby. Matt hops into a golf cart and goes to run over Bubba, but someone who’s golfing nails him in the head with a golf ball. He falls out of the golf-cart and passes out for 7.8394 minutes.

Bubba, very relieved that (he thinks) he’s safe, hulas down to the bar for a drink. While there, he meets Elvis, but he’s drunk (Elvis, not Bubba—Bubba’s just hangin’ out). Anyway, Bubba and Elvis engage in a drunken dance-off and Bubba wins. Elvis gives him a beer-stained Che Guevara t-shirt signed by Vladimir Putin in purple-glitter gel pen.

By this time, Matt’s woke up. He can’t remember what he was doing, so he goes home to watch “Queer Eye” (he left his C4 in the Wal-Mart by accident). Then he remembers Bubba and the C4 and goes back to Wal-Mart. He finds Bubba buying a Stinger missile launcher and dives at him to kill him, but misses and lands in Angie’s lap instead.

Bubba, seeing his opportunity, throws an empty beer can with a swastika on it (Miller Lite) at Matt. He nails Matt right between the eyes and runs out of the store without paying for the missile launcher. A cashier calls the cops.

Now, Matt is chasing Bubba down Main Street. Bubba panics and blindly fires the missile (there’s only one) over his shoulder at Matt. It misses, hits a guy crossing the street, and blows him into meaty little chunks. An old lady has a heart attack on the spot and dies.

Finally, Matt catches Bubba, rips off his artificial leg, and starts beating Bubba senseless with it. In the general confusion of people running around after the explosion from the missile, Bubba throws the rocket launcher to a little girl standing on the curb and she runs away and sells it on E-Bay.

Just when Ronald McDonald thinks enough’s enough and opens up with his AK-47, a herd of Bosnian blue death monkeys swarms down the street and everybody dies.

Originally created with Microsoft Word 9.0,
On Microsoft Windows Me,
2004/2005.
Exported to PDF with OpenOffice.org 3.0,
On Microsoft Windows Vista,
February 2009.