

What the...?

A GAME??? The Rules are simple. You start with your Friends and a pen and paper. Whoever starts has to come up with something using things that really just DO NOT go together.

#1 The Player must use at least 3 words in it's phrase and always a pointless bonus for anyone who uses 5 or more words for a name [Well, let's face it, the whole game was pointless...]. For Example, if you landed on "Meat Bi-Product":

Portable Chicken Flavored Stress Analyzer
(This is worth 5 points + Pointless Bonus = 10 points)

The more bizarre, the better. You have to think on these - It has to sound important, but of course, do nothing. Each player is given points by the word. You can use a theme, you can use animals, you can use news items... And if you played too long, you can use a life, HA! The Only real rule is that you can't use conjunctions, prepositions, or determiners. Words like "for", "a", "to", "or", "the", and anything that would turn it into a sentence. Remember, this has to be something USELESS...

If it had any sentence structure at all, you lose a point per word. Stuff like

Driver the Dog Grinder,
Fix A Flat To the Stars,
or
Plastic Bicycles for Stuffing,

Would have been a major no-no... They could have been played as:

Combination Driver Dog Grinder, Star Flat Fixer,
or
Stuffed Plastic Bicycles

#2 You Can't use a person's name...

#3 Contractions count as one word...

Anyway, first to finish with the most points is the winner.

For game play, you "can" use a D20 type dice to use the categories listed here, or just go down the list. For the fool hearty, MAKE SOME OF YOUR OWN!!! MUH-HAHAHAHA!!!

Just "X" out the ones used in the category check box...
Good Luck, you'll need it...
