Update to Navigation

Updates to initial design were necessary as requirements were met. I added contact and dropdown sections to further develop even if they are not contributory to grade.

Altered Pages were made. The initial design was criticized heavily, and my initial design did not include the required print and resume' links. They were added later. See updated screenshots below:

Printable Materials

The Homepage, is very different from the original criticized concept and I created necessary navigation and gallery carousel at the top and redesigned to footer to reflect more real world interface.

A Contact page was included but not really detailed. Modifying that template was not completed but I was not aware it was not a requirement early on.

RankinArt Philosophy and Mission

I have always loved heroes, sci-fi, comic books and fantasy art. I even try to address those same things with my photography when possible. I aspire to create educational

I also had not included the resume' page in the original design.

Overall my lack of attention to design content requirements and comments by the instructor led to a significant redesign of content and design.
