If my brain is frozen and the body regenerated, can it be altered to the way I want it?

What changes would you make?

I don't think I would change anything.

Unlike him, I will answer this question honestly.

First, I would request to be taller, but radically taller, like a basketball player. Because I see all these short girls and they're never with other short or even average size men...

they're always hanging all over these, like, giants.

I think the only short girl to marry a short guy was my mom...ruining my chances.

Also, I would like to have the body of a steroid sucking repressed workoutaholic, because women seem to like that.

Although in that case, I don't blame them.

And if I could make one more request for the...uh

THE COCK!?

He plays the drums.

Oh, and one other thing, in honor of Dolly

I will have a sheep's tail, as it would appear before docked for maggots.
