 New Books
 *****

With the efforts of our conference committees, the following edited books have been newly published for the revised and extended articles of our recent conferences. The titles of the books are as followed:

- Electrical Engineering and Applied Computing published by Springer
- Intelligent Automation and Systems Engineering published by Springer
- IAENG Transactions on Engineering Technologies Volume 5 published by America Institute of Physics (AIP)
- IAENG Transactions on Engineering Technologies Volume 6 published by America Institute of Physics (AIP)

We are happy that there are special IAENG member discounts available at our IAENG web page. The discount price per book is up to 70% off the regular price. The details and the online ordering of the books are available at:

http://www1.iaeng.com/publication/order\_conference.php

Authors of publications published by Springer can get a SpringerToken by registration at Springer's website. With the token, they can enjoy a discount when purchasing their publications at Springer.

<http://www.springer.com>

We wish that our members can enjoy a discount for our conference edited books. It would be our pleasure that our board members can inform their institution libraries about the books such that our publication has even higher exposure in the academics.

About the Conference Special Issues
*****

For the special issues of the IAENG conferences, the combined scores of the review results and the evaluation by our committee members and session chairs have been computed. The selected manuscripts have been invited for the special issues of our IAENG journals. Print copies of the proceedings book have been sent to the Technology Research Databases (TRD) of CSA (Cambridge Scientific Abstracts), IET INSPEC, EBSCO and Computer Science Bibliographies for indexing. Print copies have also been sent to databases like Engineering Information (EI) and ISI Thomson Reuters for their consideration of indexing. It is our pleasure that EI has indexed our recent IAENG conference proceedings book in their database.
