Transcribed and published here, with the kind permission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and the Church of Scotland, is every reference I could find and decipher of the name McHardy from 1717 to 1854 in the Braemar and Crathie Old Parish Records.

I have tried to transcribe the OPR records as accurately as possible, inserting a “?” where a word is completely illegible and [?] where I have enough to work with to make a reasonable guess. Any notations I have made appear in single square brackets: [...]. To help other researchers locate specific entries, I have standardized the dates of entry (but the entries themselves are word for word), listed records in the order they appear in the original volumes and included section headings, notes, and other navigational pointers. Original entries in the OPRs are often not chronological in order, pages are sometimes mistakenly duplicated or are out of order, and some entries are duplicated between volumes.

I have tried to make the transcripts as clear as possible; however, I cannot guarantee that I have not made mistakes, and some text is so difficult to read different people may decipher it in different ways. To ensure the accuracy of your own research, please make these transcripts a starting point and check them against the original records.

Crathie & Braemar OPR 183, volumes 1 and 2

My source for these volumes is the microfilm produced by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, source call number 0993177, which is a photographed copy of the original Parish Records held by the Register General for Scotland in Edinburgh. This microfilm was filmed in 1978, and is white text on black background.
